

FAQS

Can I bring my family/my dog/my neighbor's niece's cousin's friend's uncle?

- ❖ You can bring every person you've ever known in your life. We will try to ensure that the zombies won't eat their brains.
- ❖ But no dogs. No cats, no ferrets, chickens, or goldfish. Let's not get crazy.

What's the deal with the flags?

- ❖ Every runner will be given a flag belt with three flags that must be worn when on the course. Each flag represents your "life." The zombies are super hungry for yours, so they'll be after them in a serious way. Cross the finish line with at least one flag in tact and you can brag to all your friends that you survived the zombie onslaught. Cross the finish with all of your flags intact and YOU'VE SURVIVED! Lose those flags, and you can still finish the race as a runner.

How do I make it out alive?

- ❖ First rule of the Zombie Apocalypse? Cardio. You should train at least a little. Run, and maybe get a really mean dog to chase you...

Can I use my specialized homemade apocalypse weapons to fight the hungry horde?

- ❖ Absolutely no weapons of any kind, no matter how cool your gamer buddies think they are.

How old do I have to be to participate?

- ❖ Anyone under 18 must have a parent signature in order to participate

Will I get hurt?

- ❖ We certainly hope not. If it should happen, we will have a First Aid Tent.

Is this for real?

- ❖ You bet your life.

Will there be real live living dead?

- ❖ Maybe.

Can I actually eat a participant if I catch one?

- ❖ Please refrain from eating any of our runners. They might look tasty, but they're probably not, and the super-fit ones will be tough to chew.

How will the zombies act?

- ❖ Have you seen a zombie movie? We suggest you brush up on your zombie skills before arriving. There are crawler zombies, running zombies, grabbers, creepers... Remember, no touching the participants – just go for those flags. No matter how hungry you are, if you grab/hit/trip/tackle/kiss a runner, you'll be removed from the course immediately.

Can I dress up?

- ❖ Absolutely. Zombies are asked to arrive dressed to kill, we can provide makeup to those who need it.

Will there be refreshments?

- ❖ Yes. Look for safe zones at mile markers 1 and 2 with water.
